1— my ASCII project shows a simple house with a simple interior, depicting a classic traditional house with elements of humour depicting my first time using code language.

2— the interview depicts colours and type setting to fit Jennifer's personality as well as elements of my design aesthetic. The one based on the website is inspired by the Hi Fructose website.

3— the first flag shows a graphic representation of the Indian flag. The more expressive ones shows a combination of my two heritages—North and South India, using colours and symbolism to depict the two.

4— in multiples, I did an illustration of a hand and had it get ore and more reduced and graphic.

5—my sensory experience depicts the feeling of eating something spicy, with the wavy lines and colour gradient showing intensity of spice.
